

Please read before applying our camps:

- 1) These summer camps have age requirements, usually 12-18 years old, and some individual camps are 12-25 years old. Please note the age requirements of each camp.
- 2) The campers participating in the summer camps should be overseas residents who are physically and mentally healthy, can take care of themselves, have no behavioral problems, and can abide by the summer camp rules, and have Chinese heritage.
- 3) After the registration fee has been paid, if there is a reasonable reason to return the camper, the registration fee will be refunded in the form of credit, which can be used to participate in our camp next year.
- 4) Each person is limited to attending ONE "Root-Seeking" camp and/or ONE "Family of Affection" camp this summer. In addition, the Overseas Chinese Affairs Office has a new restriction this year: no one is allowed to participate in the root-seeking camp twice within one year (365 days). For example, the last time to participate in the camp was July 15-30, 2017, and the next camp must be after July 15th, 2018.
